

April 18, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter of recommendation is for Mr. Art Lynch. I have worked with Mr. Lynch over the past year in the capacity of supervisor; he is a part-time faculty member for me in the Department of Communication, at The College of Southern Nevada.

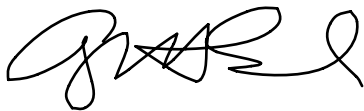

Mr. Lynch has been with CSN for many years. In that time, he has taught a great number of course sections for us, primarily the Communication 101 (Oral Communication) course, but he has also taught the Communication 102 (Interpersonal Communication) course, and also has experience teaching in the journalism/broadcasting field as well.

In his many years of teaching for us at CSN, Mr. Lynch has shown to be flexible in his ability to work within our schedule, and has nearly always taught a full-time schedule. He shows a desire to teach and a love of communication in all forms, as can be illustrated in his many experiences across his career; from teaching, to acting, to broadcasting, to publishing.

Beyond his employment, Mr. Lynch has shown a high level of professional development. He attends workshops through the Center for Academic & Professional Excellence (CAPE), which has included learning to use the WebCT course management system, and others. He additionally has taken it upon himself to work on a PhD in his free time (of which I'm sure he has very little; he is always busy).

In sum, Mr. Lynch has shown his interest and determination in communication studies, in acting, in broadcasting, and in his educational pursuits. Please feel free to contact me for further insights into his work with us at CSN.

Sincerely,

Angela M. Holland
Professor & Lead Faculty
Department of Communication
College of Southern Nevada
6375 West Charleston Blvd. C269N (W2C)
Las Vegas, NV 89146
angela.holland@csn.edu
702.651.5983 office
702.651.5738 fax